The Adams County 4-H Speech and Demonstration Contest is open to any 4-H member, between the ages of 5 and 18. Following is the rules and regulations for the contest for each of the divisions.

In order to offset the cost of this contest, there is a $5 entry fee per person. Make checks payable to the Adams County 4-H.

Registration forms, with money, are due in the Extension office by Friday, April 20, 2018. If special equipment is needed (projector, lap top, etc.), request MUST be included on the entry form!

Age divisions for the Speech and Demonstration Contest (all divisions) will be: (as of 12/31/17)

- Cloverbud (5 to 7 years old); Junior (8-10 years old); Intermediate (11-13 years old); Senior (14 and older)

Demonstrations/Illustrated Talks:

The Demonstration and Illustrated Talks contest is a "Show and Tell" opportunity for 4-H Members. A demonstration is described as "showing" how to do something, using props and materials in a step-by-step, clear and concise manner. You "Show How" while you "Tell Why". An Illustrated Talk "explains" how to do something by using charts, pictures or models. The method depends on the Speaker's preference in deciding the best way to teach a specific subject. Presentations must be directly related to 4-H projects or activities.

- Demonstrations and Illustrated Talks will have individual and team (2 people) classes for each age division.
- Presentations are limited to 10 minutes in length. An additional 5 minutes is allowed for set up and take down.
- Junior, Intermediate and Senior champions may be eligible to represent Adams County at the State Fair in August.

Interpretive Reading:

Interpretive reading is an opportunity for members to deliver a rendition of a peice of pre-written material. The presenter, with the use of vocal inflection and body language as communication tools, delivers a rendition of a peice of pre-written material. The pre-written material should be a selection from a book, poem, story, etc. and should be 4-H appropriate. This creative communication area breidges the gap between message delivery and the performing arts. Costumes and small props can be used, but they need to be simple and minimal, not detracting from the strengh of the presenter. This area is not intended for presentation of original material written by the presenter.

- Interpretive Reading is for individual contestants, not teams.
- Members may choose which selection or mutliple portions of a text to present, but may not change the content. Content should be cohesive and transition smoothly from one portion to the next.
- During the beginning of the reading, the speaker should introduce their piece and explanin the significance of the material
- Each individual will be expected to provide their own equipment. General equipment and supplies, such as tables and chairs, will be furnshied if requested in advance of the contest.
- Interpretive reading will be timed. Senior reading must be between 6-8 minutes; Intermediates between 4-6 minutes and Juniors between 3-5 minutes. Points may be deducted if over or under the time limit.
- Junior, Intermediate and Senior champions may be eligible to represent Adams County at the State Fair in August.

Prepared Speech:

A speech is an opportunity for a 4-H member to write and deliver his/her own speech. The speaker will persuade, inform or educate the audience on a single issue or topic related to 4-H. The purpose of this category to encourage participants to give a speech in which they seek out accurate information, organize it into a useful form and present the information. A speech has a clear and understandable topic. Citing sources can increase the credibility of the speech if it does not interfere with the delivery of the prepared speech.

- The prepared speech contest is for individuals, no teams.
- Speeches must be original and written by the individual
- Note cards may be used. However, excessive use of notes may be counted against the contestant.
- Contestants may not use any costumes, posters, visual aids or props in their presentations.
- Speeches must be on a 4-H topic relative to today's youth. The speech must be related to 4-H in some manner. Any ideas presented should relate to 4-H participation and/or organization in Colorado as appropriate. Past contest speeches may not be used for county competition.
- Speeches should be between 4-6 minutes for seniors; 3-5 minutes for Intermediate and Juniors and 2-3 minutes for Cloverbuds.
 - The Top Senior the Prepared Speech may be eligible to represent Adams County at the State 4-H Conference at Colorado State University in June.

Impromptu Speech:

An Impromptu Speech involves speeches that participants have written at the competition. Participants will select a topic and then be given ten minutes to prepare their speech. General topic areas for impromptu speeches will include Personal issues/values, youth issues, 4-H promotion/persuasive, leadership and current events. During the impromptu speech contest, 4-H members will have the opportunity to draw on personal experiences and resources, gain confidence and be able to deliver a speech spontaneously.

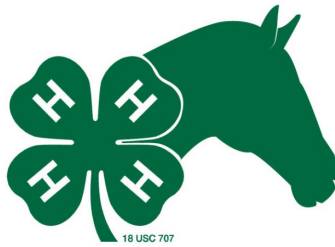

- The impromptu speech contest is for individuals, no teams.
- The junior and intermediate time frame is 2-3 minutes. Senior time frame is 3-5 minutes. Participants will be given a 30-second warning before the end of the time frame.
- Members will select a topic and then be given ten minutes to prepare their speech. A note card and pencil will be provided so that the member may prepare notes. The note card may be used for reference during the speech. No other visuals, props, or notes may be used.
- Members will probably not have the time to write out the whole speech. It is better to consider several major points and write them on the card. Members are never unprepared—they have their lifetime and their 4-H experience as a resource. Members should be themselves.
- The Top Senior Impromptu Speech may be eligible to represent Adams County at the State 4-H Conference at Colorado State University in June.

Horse Demonstrations:

This is a demonstration relating to the Horse industry. The subject matter must pertain to the horse. Demonstration not appropriately related to the horse industry will be judged as a general demonstration. Presentations may be either a demonstration or illustration talk format.
